BOY, GIRL, 18, ARE VICTIMS

Two New Cases of Infantile Paralysis Are Reported Here

The infantile paralysis epidemic which has been sweeping the state with serious results for the last few months extended its age limit in Marion County today when it was announced that a boy and a girl both 18 years of age had been afflicted with the disease over the week end

The two cases reported today revived the epidemic in Marion County which had apparently subsided after 11 of ill [illegible] and one death were reported

Kyle Forey son of Mrs Emma Forey 628 Congress-st and Miss Lilly Mae James daughter of Mr and Mrs Hughie James one mile north of La Rue are the latest victims

Home Quarantined

Forey who was graduated from Harding High School with the class of 1927 last June was taken ill last Friday and his home was placed under quarantine late yesterday The sickness was first declared to be a bad case of grippe and not at all alarming Fear that typhoid fever would follow Forey has been employed for the last year as clerk at the Oakland Drug Co working after school until his graduation

Miss James was stricken with the disease on the eve of the opening of the LaRue High School where she had been enrolled as a senior Classes at the high school were scheduled to start today

The girl according to County Health Commissioner Sifritt had been suffering from the grippe and severe pains at the back of her head and in her back for the past week

Condition of Jack Fish, 5 of near Caledonia and Evelyn Eaton, 4, who were taken ill with the paralysis last week, was reported unchanged at the office of the county health commissioner, today.

SCORES SEE ROBBERY

Two Bandits Flee in Opposite Directions Through W. Center-st Throngs

Police today continued their search for two daring youthful bandits who Saturday night slugged Mrs Paul Gilbert 437 Windsor-st in the midst of a crowd near the East 100 block on W Center-st and escaped with her pocketbook containing between $100 and $150

The robbery was executed before a hundred of persons in the vicinity realized what had taken place

Passersby who saw Mrs Gilbert on her knees with a man on each side thought she had fallen and was being assisted to her feet They made no effort to come to her rescue until after the men had fled in opposite directions on W Center-st Police were called and the neighborhood combed without results Several arrests were made early Sunday morning and the young men held at police headquarters for investigation

Struck Over Head

The robbery occurred when Mrs Gilbert who had been with her husband to a meat market on north side of the street crossed over to buy some popcorn for her children She had made her purchase and had turned to cross the street when two young men approaching from the opposite direction started to pass her, one on each side.

As the two passed her, one of them struck her on the back of the head with blunt instrument throwing her to her knees As she fell one of the assailants grabbed her pocketbook which she was carrying under her arm Although dazed by the blow Mrs Gilbert retained her hold on the pocketbook until it was wrenched from her

Screams For Help

Recovering from the effects of the blow Mrs Gilbert screamed for help In the meantime however the highwaymen had made their escape

The Gilberts who are conducting a sale of lots at Grand Forest beach near Lorain had been collecting earlier in the evening and it is believed that the robbers had been following them and seized the opportunity when Mrs Gilbert was alone to commit the robbery In addition to nearly a hundred dollars in cash the pocketbook contained a number of checks

Mrs Gilbert described one of her assailants as being about 18 years of age wearing a light shirt dark trousers, a straw hat and weighing between 135 and 140 pounds The other, she said was between 24 and 26 years of age wore a blue shirt dark trousers and weighed between 165 and 160 pounds

Aside from the shock to her nerves Mrs Gilbert suffered no ill effects from her experience

HORSES KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Two Traffic Accidents Occur Near Mt. Gilead; Bus Is Upset

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 12—A number of bus passengers were shaken up and narrowly escaped injury as horses lost their lives and a Studebaker sedan partly wrecked in two automobile accidents which occurred near here, Saturday.

Passengers in a bus bound for Mansfield escaped with only a few minor injuries about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the bus turned over on its side in the ditch after being crowded from the roadway by a passing car. The bus was only slightly damaged.

Car Hits Wagon

Floyd Davis, a farmer living near here, was seriously bruised when a Studebaker sedan skidded into the wagon he was driving about two miles south of Mt. Gilead, Saturday afternoon. The force of the collision drove the wagon into the horses crushing them against a rail along the road and injuring them so seriously that they were shot.

The Studebaker, driven by a man reported to be an official of the state hospital at Gallipolis, was badly damaged.

KENTON WOMEN ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Injured in Collision of Machines East of City on Harding Highway

Kenton, Sept. 12 — Three Kenton women are today recovering from injuries sustained when the automobile in which they were returning from Lima and one driven by J. Moore, Kenton, collided three miles east of here on the Harding Highway. Both machines were wrecked.

The injured were: Miss Augusta Olsen, Mrs. Bessie Andrews and Mrs. Grace Dugan. Miss Olsen sustained a lacerated throat, 10 stitches being required to close the wound, while the other two victims received body cuts and bruises. The driver of the second car escaped.

CANCEL SCHOOL EXHIBBIT PLANS

Morrow County Fair Educational Features Called Off by Board

Mt. Gilead, Sept. 12—In response to a plea of Dr. R. L. Pierce on behalf of the state health department all plans for educational exhibits and school programs at the County Fair Sept. 20-23 were abandoned by the Morrow County fair board Saturday in their meeting. This action was taken because of the infantile paralysis situation. A request was also made by Dr. Pierce to allow the state health department to place an exhibit on the fairgrounds. This request was granted.

Four Kings of Syncopation were employed to furnish music on the grandstand during the races at the fair. The musicians are colored boys from Columbus.

Horseshoe Contests

The board also moved to inaugurate horseshoe pitching contests from money prizes of $5, $3 and $2. The eliminating pitching will be done Thursday with the finals on Friday.

Due to what the board considered an excessive charge for the use of the ground outside they decided to park all autos on the fair grounds instead of on the adjoining tract known as Lorenz field.

A rain insurance policy was written by C. O. Higgins and approved by the board.

A motion was passed to thank the Mt. Gilead and Cardington merchants and the Halloween Mardi Gras committee for their aid and support in fair work.

ANNOUNCE BUCYRUS CITY SCHOOL BUDGET

Next Year's Expenses To Total $202,570, Board Clerk Reports

Bucyrus, Sept. 12—Operation of the Bucyrus schools for the next year will cost $202,570.84, according to B. F. Renkert, clerk of the board of education. The budget will be on file in the office of Supt. Dietrich the next 10 days.

Commenting on the budget, Renkert stated that it is about $6,000 higher than the budget for last year. The extra comes from several increased expenditures. The insurance for the buildings will be about $2,000 higher. Repairs to the buildings will cost $5,000 and pay of the two additional teachers for the newly established lower grade in the central building will add about $1,000.

The budget was to have been presented at the meeting Friday night, but as only two members, H. B. Ward and B. F. Renkert, appeared the meeting was called off for lack of a quorum.

Buck [illegible] hard enough in [illegible] frame [illegible] a beautiful asset.

Hit Hard

As for hitting—the boys were right [illegible] except Glen Price [illegible] for a safety. Joe Conroy [illegible] timely batting with three hard [illegible] in four trips. His first [illegible] in the second inning with [illegible] loaded and scored the first two Eagle runs.

Harve [illegible] kept up his extra base [illegible] his fourth double [illegible] the Toledo Eagle game. Harve [illegible] a single in the big [illegible] inning. Buck smashed out two [illegible] four attempts while Rowan [illegible] double.

[illegible] third sacker pulled [illegible] off the game in the second [illegible] when he knocked down Chet [illegible] with his bare hands [illegible] on second.

Landis Gets Homer

[illegible] of the visitors took to Ferner's [illegible] until the last inning [illegible] with a double and a single and [illegible] with two singles were the [illegible] to get to the new [illegible] Landis Clowns [illegible] a home run in the [illegible] the only runs off Ferner.

Marion opened the scoring in the second [illegible] Pine doubled to right center [illegible] Sharrock's smash was knocked down by Budd on the hot corner and Rizor walked filling the bases. Conroy singled scoring Pine and Sharrock. [illegible] was out trying to score on Rigby's [illegible] at third.

The Eagles won the game in the big [illegible] Sharrock reached first on Palmer's bobble. Rizor sent him to [illegible] a line over that sack. Conroy crossed up the opposition by laying [illegible] a perfect bunt filling the sacks. Ferner singled scoring Sharrock and Rizor and sending Conroy to second. [illegible] singled to send Conroy across the plate, Ferner advancing to third and Buckland taking second as Cramer juggled the ball in right field. That was enough for O'Rourke. He went out in right field and Sharkey took the mound.

Hot Welcome

Rowan greeted the new hurler with a [illegible] double into the left garden scoring Ferner and Buckland. Bacon lined one through the box to score Rowan and went to second when Rigby tried to catch Rowan at home. Price walked and Pine got a single clogging the bases once more. Sharrock hit to Sharkey who threw home forcing out Bacon but Price scored when Doll missed Bline's throw to double Chet. Rizor was out, [illegible] Doll [illegible] Conroy singled scoring Pine and Price. It was Conroy's second hit of the inning and third of the contest. Rigby threw home to catch Sharrock but the ball hit a bat carried by the Marion mascot and Chet was called out under the interference rule.

The visitors collected their only runs in the ninth when with two on Landis gave the ball a ride over the left field fence.

The fans were kept amused between innings by a set of professional clowns who travel with the Canton outfit.

Next Sunday the Eagles open a three-game series with the Mansfield Younkers. This outfit boasts a record of only one defeat in 16 starts this season.

CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS; CARDS AGAIN WIN

NEW YORKERS DROP IN SECOND-PLACE TIE WITH ST. LOUIS

Yanks Fail To Make Clean Sweep of Series with Browns

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—New York baseball fans were [illegible] today as a result of defeats suffered by the two Gotham teams yesterday. The Giants were [illegible] by the Cubs again and dropped into a tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for second place while the Yankees lost a chance to set a world's record when they were defeated by the Browns after having trimmed those worthies in 21 straight contests this season.

Thirty five thousand fans were disappointed when the Yanks were beaten by Pitcher Milt Gaston 6 to 2. Babe Ruth, however, walloped his fiftieth homer of the season placing him five ahead of Lou Gehrig and only four behind his 1921 record. The homer gave the Yanks 141 circuit clouts for the season, a world's record.

Only Two More

The Hugmen incidentally need only two [illegible] to clinch the flag.

The Pirates idle yesterday now lead the Giants and Cardinals by [illegible] games with the Cubs half a game farther in the rear. The Cardinals are playing the best ball in the league having won seven of their last 10 games. The Cubs have won [illegible] out of 10 while the Pirates and Giants have won four and lost three. Previous to Saturday New York had won [illegible] out of [illegible].

Carlson and Barnes both were hit hard in the New York-Chicago game yesterday. Carlson went the route and won 7 to 5 while Barnes was knocked out in the sixth when the Cubs scored six runs. Hack Wilson hit his 27th homer gaining a tie with Cy Williams for league home run honor. English fielded like a flash and made two hits in Chicago's big innings.

Blanks Another

Fred Frankhouse, St. Louis rookie, won again, blanking Brooklyn 3 to 0 and allowing only four hits of which Hendrick got three.

Dick Rudolph, mound ace of the champion 1914 Braves, pitched two innings as the Beaneaters lost two games to Cincinnati 5 to 4 and 20 to 5. Two rookies led the Reds in batting. Pettie and Pittenger each getting six hits.

Washington closed in on the third place Tigers by nosing out the White Sox 6 to 5 on Bluege's hit in the twelfth. A minute before when a Washington runner scored on a sacrifice fly the fans left the stands in the belief that the game was over but returned to their seats when the runner was called out for leaving third base too soon.

Other teams did not play.

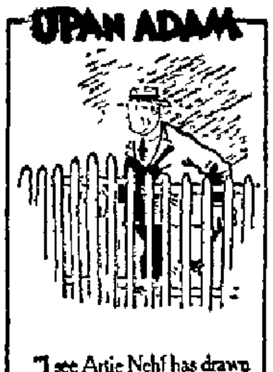
ONE NICKEL!

That's All It Takes to Settle This Question of Real Smokes at 5c Per

Some men say it can't be done. Some men say it never could be done. Some men say it never will be done. Let them argue. The fact remains that a mild, fragrant cigar can be produced to sell for 5c.

There is such a cigar on sale today. A cigar that's been on the market for thirty years and is selling bigger than ever—at 5c. A cigar that cost more money for years. That is a finer smoke today than it ever was. It's mild, fine tobacco. A cool, slow smoker. Full of aroma. Satisfying. It's got everything you have a right to expect in a higher-priced cigar.

Hard to believe? Here's the way to prove it, at a total cost of five cents. Ask for just one Havana Ribbon anywhere in town. You'll know the happy truth from the first draw. If you wonder how we do it, the answer is volume production. Production that runs into millions. Buy one Havana Ribbon today, and you'll buy a dozen tomorrow.



"I see Artie Nehf has drawn the gate from the Reds—because his left is no longer tight."

BINCOS DROP TWO; HARPSTER NINE COPS

Marion Team Loses Both Ends of Double-Header to Agosta

We haven't yet been able to get a complete line [illegible] league [illegible] certainty that the Marion Bincos [illegible] after their miserable performance in a double header at Agosta yesterday. The Marion team fell hard taking the count [illegible] the tune of 11 [illegible] 0 and 12 [illegible].

As [illegible] the Modern Woodmen of Harpster kept up their good work and trimmed Claridon 11 to 3.

Agosta completely outplayed the local team in both ends of the twin bill. The first outburst was nothing short of a massacre and the second was a pitiful slaughter. Kenneth Fields pitched one of the games with Niemeyer doing the mound work in the other.

Bob Merchant was the slab artist to turn in the shut-out victory over the Bincos. He gave them four hits and made them feel thankful for that many. D. Kyle hurled the other game for Agosta.

Ira Moses pitched Harpster to a victory over Claridon. Opposing batteries were Elginton, Harroff and Faines.

STRAW HATS GO OUT AS CUBS WIN

Chicago, Sept. 12—It took a Cubs victory over the New York Giants to [illegible] the straw hat season in Chicago. At least ten thousand of the 45,000 fans who [illegible] the game were straw [illegible] today for [illegible] of the playing field was literally strewn under by straw skimmers hurled overboard by the enthusiastic Cub rooters. Chicago won 7 to 5.

CUNNINGHAM WINS GREAT COURT MATCH

Defeats Verne Silbaugh of Ada in Tennis Classic at Vernon Heights

Only one member of the Lancaster tennis team scheduled to meet the Vernon Heights racketeers here appeared yesterday but his performance against Ted Cunningham in a five-set singles match furnished spectators and other members of the local team with the greatest tennis spectacle ever seen on the local courts.

Verne Silbaugh, a member of the Lancaster team who is employed at Ada, was the visitor. He went down before Ted by a score of 6-[illegible], 4-6, 6-4, 6-1. But despite the score the exhibition was the hardest fought and fastest match of the year here.

Cunningham, a stellar performer in the net game, was forced to the greatest of his ability in taking the match. After copping the first gruelling set, he dropped the second but came back for the next two with a flourish.

AMERICA WINS POLO MATCH; INVADERS TO MAKE TWO CHANGES

British Switch Lineup for Second International Match Wednesday

New York, Sept. 12—[illegible] F. Peet and Major Austin H. Williams, respectively [illegible] Great Britain last Saturday in the first international polo match, have been [illegible] from the lineup as the first [illegible] series of desperate efforts [illegible] of the invaders to bolster up [illegible] chances for the [illegible] against America's [illegible] Wednesday.

According to an announcement [illegible] Col. Commander H. A. [illegible] manager of the British forces, Capt. [illegible] George and Capt. [illegible] will replace the two players dropped.

The switching of the British line was expected in polo circles after the poor showing of the invaders at Meadowbrook last Saturday. [illegible] much too light to cope with Milburn, the burly American back.

George is a rugged player who will be better able to rough it with the tireless Milburn.

Dening, a husky six foot four man weighing 174 pounds, is also expected to strengthen the British team.

World Fliers, Unable to Reach Tokio, Return to Omura

AIRMEN STRIKE FOG AND WINDS

Americans Still Determined To Fly Across Dangerous Pacific

Tokio, Sept. 12—Forced to land at the Omura air field, near Sasebo Tyushu, after flying from Shanghai, the Pride of Detroit, piloted by William Brock and Edward F. Schlee, attempted to reach Tokio today but was compelled to return to Omura when the round the world fliers encountered a heavy fog and high winds.

During the flight from Shanghai, the two airmen also encountered a soupy fog. This, coupled with the fact that the aviators had a poor grade of gasoline, caused them to abandon their plans of a non-stop flight to Tokio.

After the flight from Shanghai, the fliers inspected their plane at Omura field and again took to the air in an effort to reach this city. They were forced to return, however, when the fogs made it inadvisable to continue.

Airmen Determined

Brock and Schlee today asserted they were uncertain when the flight would be resumed.

Despite the numerous cablegrams received from the United States asking that they abandon their proposed flight across the Pacific, the two airmen, according to a wire sent to their representative here, appear determined to attempt the dangerous ocean hop.

The men who are flying the Pride of Detroit, according to advices received by their representative, intend to install a new Wright motor in the plane when they arrive here and then will continue the flight to Midway, thence to Honolulu and then to San Francisco. Final decision of the matter, however, will not be made until the airmen reach here.

Men familiar with Midway Island say that the flight over the proposed route would be extremely hazardous. The island is but a tiny speck of land in the ocean and with no facilities for a take-off. In the event the fliers choose the Guam route, they would find it equally perilous. This would mean they would have to make a non-stop flight of approximately 3,600 miles over the ocean.

Schlee and Brock were given the fullest co-operation by the Japanese at Omura. The entire personnel of the air field was put at their disposal.

SUMMARY OF FLIERS' EFFORTS

The round-the-world plane, Pride of Detroit, was compelled by high winds and fog to return to the Omura, Japan, airdrome after an unsuccessful effort to fly to Tokio.

Charles A. Levine, owner of the transatlantic plane, Columbia, definitely abandoned his plan to attempt a non-stop westward flight from Croydon, England, to New York. He may fly to India, however.

Rene Fonck, French ace, has virtually abandoned his plan to fly across the Atlantic from New York to Paris and has entered the American transcontinental air derby from New York to Spokane, beginning Sept. 19.

None of the French fliers who are awaiting transoceanic flying weather was able to hop off at Le Bourget for New York.

With Miss Ruth Elder of Detroit, on her way to this city for a transatlantic flight, two more women are planning to hop off for Europe in a Sikorsky plane. They are Miss Frances W. Grayson of Brooklyn and Mrs. Ange Aucker of Aiken, S. C. Their plane is now being tested at the Sikorsky works on Long Island. The flight is backed by a group of Wheeling, W. Va., business men. The plane, a sister ship of Paul Redfern's, probably will be named after Wheeling.

LEVINE GIVES UP IDEA OF FLIGHT

London, Sept. 12—"I have given up the idea of trying to fly to New York this year for the storm season makes it too dangerous," Charles A. Levine, owner of the plane Columbia, declared today. He said he would make the attempt to fly from Europe to America next year, probably in a three-motored seaplane.

Levine has not abandoned the plan of attempting a non-stop flight from England to Karachi, India. His new pilot, Capt. W. G. Hinchcliffe, is studying the best route for the trip.

Transatlantic weather conditions are very bad. The latest bulletin reported a 45-mile gale over mid-ocean.

WILLARD H. DEPUE, 16, CLAIMED BY DEATH

Diabetes Assigned as Cause of Death; Funeral To Be Held Tuesday

NEW MINISTER TAKES CHARGE

Rev Carl W. Patow Gives First Sermon at Prospect Street Church

"The purpose of my ministry here is to be a blessing to my congregation and to the people of my city," said Rev. Carl W. Patow, the new pastor of Prospect Street M. E. Church in his first sermon at the well-attended services there yesterday morning. Reverend Patow arrived here from Pittsburgh the forepart of the week to succeed Rev. A. F. [illegible] whose new charge is in [illegible].

His sermon, "A Beautiful Vocation" was based on the text, "Thou shalt be a blessing" Genesis 12:2. "The statement, 'Thou shalt be a blessing,' may be looked upon as an opinion, a prophecy or as a commandment, or perhaps as all three," Reverend Patow said in his introduction.

"But what does the statement indicate but that the life of Abraham, to whom the words were spoken, was to be a blessing? That his calling was not to accumulate wealth, obtain positions of honor for himself but to be a blessing—as our lives are also dedicated to that great purpose.

Analyzes Failure

"We often think of our associates as failures in business or in society but only that individual is a failure who fails to fill God's purpose—to be a blessing. As the purpose of my ministry here is to be a blessing so is the purpose of each individual of Prospect Street M. E. Church and the church as a whole, to be a blessing to the community—otherwise forfeiting their right to existence here.

"Everyone may be a blessing if they do as Abraham of old did, be obedient to the call of God, yield themselves to God in loving loyalty, so serving their God and humanity."

In closing Reverend Patow answered the frequently raised question, "What are we here for?" with the words, "Our purpose here is primarily to be a blessing. Whether we are of the humble group or the more sophisticated society we may fulfill this our mission—to be a blessing."

COPYRIGHT 1927, BY CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK, CLEVELAND.

Ohio's birth rate is falling. The number of births in 1926 averaged 18.7 per 1,000 of population in the state, the U. S. Government found in a survey just completed. In 1921 the rate was 21.9.

The rate is falling in a majority of the states, according to the government survey, and Ohio's decline is typical of the United States as a whole.

Officials who study the rates are unable to account wholly for the decline. This is one reason why the government is making a continuous study of the subject. Rates are computed each year for all principal states.

It is sometimes asserted that birth rates decline with an increase in living costs and advance when prices go down. Since 1920 the price of necessities have been declining throughout the United States. In the same period the birth rates of many states also have dropped off. Investigators are obliged to hunt for another explanation of the decline in births.

Ohio's birth rate increased from 1919 to 1921. In 1919 it was 19.8 per 1,000 of population. A year later it rose to 21.3 and then advanced to 21.9 in 1921. But in 1922 it dropped to 20.4. Then it rose to 21.0 in 1923 and to 21.2 in 1924. The following year it stood at 19.6 but declined in 1926 to 18.7.

TO HOLDERS OF
SECOND LIBERTY LOAN 4¼ PER CENT BONDS
EXCHANGE OFFERING OF NEW TREASURY NOTES

Second Liberty Loan bonds have been called for payment on November 15th next, and no interest will be paid after that date.

Notice is given of a new offering of United States Treasury notes, in exchange for Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds. The new notes will be dated September 15, 1927, and will bear interest from that date at the rate of 3½ per cent. The notes will mature in five years but may be called for redemption after three years.

Interest on Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds surrendered and accepted in exchange will be paid to November 15, 1927. The price of the new issue of notes is 100½. Holders surrendering Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds in exchange will receive, at the time of delivery of the new notes, interest on such Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds from May 15, 1927, to November 15, 1927, less the premium on the new notes issued.

Holders of Second Liberty Loan Converted 4¼ per cent bonds who desire to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain Treasury notes of the new issue should arrange with their bank for such exchange at the earliest possible date, as this offer will remain open only for a limited period after September 15th.

Further information may be obtained from banks or trust companies, or from any Federal Reserve Bank.

LOANS UP TO $500

It usually sounds like "hookum" when a fellow tells you very confidentially where to make $100 double itself in two months. And yet it isn't impossible—even greater gains are made every day on opportune investments. "Money is a good servant to a wise master."

The City Loan is not prepared to tell you where or how to make money in a hurry, but it is always ready to help as much as possible by furnishing money for your use when a sound investment or a happy bargain comes "breezin'" along your way.

Thousands of City Loan customers have made great profits with borrowed money, and quite a number have become permanently established in business as a result of a timely loan.

Demands Sweeping Probe of Federal Dry Law Enforcement

BOYLAN MAKES CONGRESS PLEA

Bases Request on Charges of Lowman That Graft Is Rampant

Washington Sept 12 A [illegible] congressional inquiry into federal prohibition enforcement was demanded today by Rep John J Boylan, democrat of New York.

Basing his demand on charges of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman that the dry machine is torn with graft, Boylan proposed to throw the congressional searchlight on every phase of enforcement from 1920 to the present time.

If, after seven years of enforcement by two administrations regarded as favorable to the dry laws the prohibition machine reeks with bribery and corruption, as Lowman charges, I think the people are entitled to know the facts, Boylan said.

Has Strong Support

"Congress and the public have a right to know how the executive arm of the government is carrying out all the laws."

With both wets and drys thoroughly aroused by Lowman's sensational indictment of prohibition enforcement it appeared that Boylan would have strong support for his investigation.

A distinguished group of officials and ex prohibition executives would be summoned under Boylan's plan.

HEAR PASTOR'S FIRST SERMON

Large Congregation Greets Rev. E Radebaugh at Calvary Church

[illegible] at the [illegible] the church [illegible] [illegible] Radebaugh [illegible] first sermon as pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church yesterday morning [illegible] meeting [illegible].

Reverend Radebaugh took up his [illegible] the first part of the week succeeding Rev. Clifton [illegible] Allen [illegible] pastor of the [illegible] Evangelical Church [illegible]. Reverend Radebaugh served as pastor of the Bethany Church in Canton the last three years.

Lesson In Text

In his first sermon "The Vine and the Branches" based on John 15 1-8 [illegible] pointed out as an expression of the simple teaching of the text the union life and fruit of the vine and branches.

As one looks at the vine and its branches it would be difficult to distinguish which is which in the branch grows out of the stalk of the vine and [illegible] to be. Without me ye can do nothing. Salvation by character [illegible] as impossible. He told the learned man who lived in His time that "Ye must be born again." And what did He say of the good works of the unregenerate men? Apart from Me ye can do nothing.

Here is condemnation of all the busy life of the men of the world not lived in vital union with Christ lived in independence of His saving work upon the cross and His regenerating work in the heart as a result of definitely accepting Him.

Branch Given Life

"The same sap that courses through the vine finds its way into the branch keeping it green and giving it life. In like manner the life of Jesus flows through the spiritual nature of a Christian," said Reverend Radebaugh in regard to the lesson to be found in the life of the vine.

Approximately 300 attended the service last night when Reverend Radebaugh preached a powerful sermon on the subject Samson.

CAMP OWENS REPORT FILED

Various Improvements Proposed for Boy Scout Outing Center

One hundred and seventy one Boy Scouts were settled in Camp John A Owens [illegible] south of Marion for one week [illegible] the Harding Area Council of Boy Scouts this summer final statistics [illegible] the outing reveal today.

With the close of the camp a number of improvements have been recommended for the next year including a new mess hall [illegible] of the present [illegible] construction of two more lodges for the boys and building of a club lodge suitable for week end and winter hikes of boys and scout masters.

Road Improved

The road leading to camp was improved this season, the swimming pool was enlarged some permanent buildings were added and a council ring started. The present bottom of the pool should be remedied by gravel stone or cement according to Scout Executive Walter C Brown in his report to the camp committee.

All improvements suggested would complete the expense of making the camp second to none and there would be no need for further outlay for years to come Brown states.

In giving the financial report of the camp in 1927 Brown tells how fees of campers which amounted to $1,617.78 were spent. Food cost $1,250.22 salary for the cook and his assistant was $247 transportation expenses were $55 fuel cost $18 [illegible] and miscellaneous expenses amounted to $47.21.

Year's Expenditures

During 1927 $1,5[illegible] was spent on grounds and buildings at camp rental and power cost $[illegible] equipment expense was $500 and staff salaries etc amounted to $8[illegible] making a total of $[illegible] for general expenditures according to the financial report. In 1926 a total of $2,500 was expended for buildings and grounds making the total investment in the two years of the camp existence $[illegible].

Of the nine lodges built this year one was paid for by the Marion council one by the Bucyrus council and the remaining were gifts of the Anthony Foundry Co Commercial Steel Casting Co Osgood Co Fells Dairy Fred L Cathers and Charles F Merkel Robert Owens and the Schaffner Furniture Co. The camp site is owned by J D Owens & Son.

LEGION BOYS KEEP LOOKOUT FOR SHIPS

Hope To Find Some Trace of Old Glory on Waters of Atlantic

Aboard S S Leviathan Sept 12—While former doughboys enroute to the American Legion convention in Paris lined the rails in silence the Leviathan maintained a sharp lookout today for a possible trace of the missing monoplane Old Glory, as the ship ploughed through the stretch of this Atlantic graveyard where the three fliers are supposed to have perished.

Even though hope has been abandoned that Pilots Lloyd W Bertaud and James D Hill and their passenger Philip Payne will be found alive the passengers aboard the Leviathan believed there was a possibility that some trace of the plane might be found.

Early this morning the ship entered the zone 400 to 600 miles off Newfoundland where Old Glory is believed to have gone down. The weather was clear and the sea smooth in spite of strong [illegible]. It was thought however that the ship's course was slightly north [illegible] Hill who was at the stick of Old Glory.

It was recalled as the ship was passing through this zone, that Herbert Hartley commander of the Leviathan had been invited to be navigator of Old Glory but had declined the offer.

UNIQUE KITE IS MADE HERE

Marion Man Invents Life Saving Device for Use at Sea

The [illegible] Marion [illegible]

[illegible] can be carried.

Models of the kite [illegible] by Silverthorne [illegible] winter in Florida [illegible] five feet tall and resemble the ordinary kite. The body of the kite is made of canvas with the frame [illegible] of wood.

Special Metal

An especially [illegible] reel of manganese bronze has been built for the kite by the Marion Brass & Bronze Foundry Co. [illegible] This metal resists the [illegible] of salt water. All [illegible] the brake trip on the trolley and the safety device to prevent [illegible] in a storm were made by Silverthorne who has been employed at the Marion Lumber Co. for the last 16 years. Silverthorne also constructed a [illegible] from which the reel was molded.

The first step of a rescue ship in giving assistance to a wrecked vessel is to fly the kite at a distance beyond the ship that is in distress. A parachute to which a line is attached is placed at the bottom of the kite string and the wind carries the parachute up the string over the ship. When the parachute reaches the kite a catch on the trolley to which it is connected is thrown open and the parachute drops with the line over the ship.

Should the parachute fail to place the line within reach of the crew on the wrecked ship the first trial another can be placed on the kite string in the same manner as the first and another attempt made. The operation can also be reversed and the vessel can launch the kite and drop a line over the rescue ship.

To Demonstrate Device

Silverthorne's kite device it is believed, will do away with carrying an expensive life-line gun and will be effective over a longer distance. Several patents in the United States and foreign countries have been obtained on the invention. Silverthorne claims that he has received a letter from the United States government requesting him to demonstrate the kite and its benefits before a committee at a time to be later designated. Silverthorne however refused to state as to whether he would sell the patent to the government if it proves successful. He has already obtained many offers for the purchase of the invention.

The first patent was obtained by the [illegible] man in 1923. Last winter Silverthorne spent his time in perfecting and testing the kite in Florida. By the addition of a small sail to pull the trolley up the cord instead of the parachute along with several friends in Florida during his stay he fished with the kite and succeeded in landing several [illegible]. Most of the fishing was done from the beach and owing to the fact that the line is capable of being placed in water more than one mile away with the kite deep water and big fish were obtainable. The trolley returns to the fisherman after the line is dropped.

Other Uses

There is a possibility that the patent will be purchased by the U. S. Department of Forestry owing to the benefit that the kite would be in sowing seed for Douglas fir trees. The operation of the kite would be the same with the trolley carrying a seed container and drop seeds on its trip to and from the kite.

Silverthorne declares that a photograph can be taken by placing a camera on the trolley and when it reaches the kite the catch will trip the lever as the trolley returns to the ground.

By watching children make parachutes out of a handkerchief as a stone ballast, about 20 years ago Silverthorne says he got the idea which has resulted in his present invention. He has worked on his kite during his spare hours at his workbench at the Marion Lumber Co. for a number of years.

Tapping of U. S. Oil Reserves Not Our Worry, Experts Say

I'm talking about American oil [illegible] we will be compelled to rely on if we use up our own too fast.

Their story is that foreign producers will charge us unholy prices if our American wells run dry and that our enemies might shut us off from foreign sources completely in war time.

But I'm referring to American oil and quoting bureau of mines experts—petroleum division.

"If we don't discover another drop of oil from now on and don't improve our methods," they tell me at the petroleum division, "we'll be up against [illegible]

So the petroleum experts at the bureau of mines assure me—officially.

James J. Corbett says, "Faversham's advice decided me on Luckies"

Famous former heavyweight champion, with Mrs. Corbett after breakfast at their home at Bayside, L. I., recommends Lucky Strikes.

William Faversham,
The Popular Actor,
writes:
"For years I have been a Lucky Strike enthusiast, in fact, I never smoke any other cigarette. In all this time I have never been troubled with throat irritations. In addition to the enjoyment that I get from the superior quality of Lucky Strikes, it is wonderful to know that my voice will never be affected by smoking."
William Faversham

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

HARDING TOMB GUARD AIDS AT FUNERALS

Detachment Supplies 42 Firing Squads for American Legion Rites

[illegible] of the [illegible] detachment of the 10th Infantry [illegible] not limited entirely to the protection of the tomb containing the bodies of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding at Marion Cemetery.

In addition to the regular guard, the local organizations have pressed the [illegible] into various services.

A total of 42 rifle squads have been furnished by the Harding Guard since it was ordered there immediately following the death of President Harding in 1923.

Eight of these squads were used at the annual Memorial Day services the last three years. Two of these were used at each Memorial Day ceremony, one at the speakers platform [illegible] at the program and the other [illegible] the graves of the soldiers buried in the American Legion plot at the cemetery.

American Legion funerals in the past four years have required the services of 24 firing squads in the city alone. Twenty of the deceased soldiers were buried in Marion Cemetery and four in St. Mary's Catholic cemetery.

The squad also is often requested to attend soldiers funerals outside of the city and fire a volley over the graves. Four of these squads have been furnished at the village of Agosta, [illegible] at Highwood, Waldo and Radnor. The services at Waldo were held for a Spanish American War Veteran.

The firing squad of the detachment also has staged the ceremony at services for one Civil War Veteran and one Rainbow Veteran.

YOUTH CARRIED INTO AIR ON PLANE'S TAIL

Safe and Sound, Though Chilled, After Thrilling Sky Ride

Hadley Airport, New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 12—Vincent Taylor, 17, of Hackensack, N. J., was "safe and sound" today after one of the most sensational journeys ever attempted. Young Taylor was whisked aloft by a six-passenger Fokker plane while clutching the machine's tail at Teterboro Airport, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., late yesterday. Fearing the jump Taylor climbed to the tail of the airplane while the navigator—L. Boston De Arce, an air mail pilot—turned on all the juice and roared upward to an altitude of 3,000 feet.

When the plane landed here after flying 35 miles in 30 minutes and De Arce climbed from the cockpit, he was startled to see young Taylor, whom he had left half an hour before at Teterboro.

"How did you get here so quick?" demanded De Arce.

"I came on the tail of your plane," replied Taylor.

De Arce said he noticed the plane seemed to be heavier in the rear than in front but he paid no attention to it. The aviators made a big fuss over Taylor and insisted that he bunk with them here at the airport last night.

The lad said he did not mind the wild ride although he was scared at first. He was chilled through and once saw a shooting star which he feared was a sign of bad luck for him.

This morning Taylor was to fly back to Teterboro with De Arce, but this time as a legitimate, invited passenger, in the cockpit. Later De Arce was to hop off for Boston in a mail plane—with no one riding on his tail.

THREE MEN ENLIST FOR SERVICE IN NAVY

LaRue and Morral Youths Accepted at Local Recruiting Station

Three men were accepted by Chief Turret Capt. John H. Shanks of the local Navy Recruiting Station this week.

Thomas Leonard Metzger, of LaRue, Fred Leroy Beck and Stanley Everet Patterson of Morral were accepted and sent to Cincinnati, to be enlisted.

They will be sent to Great Lakes Naval Training Station for a short course of naval training and then expect to go to one of the navy trade schools.

Metzger and Beck expressed a desire to enter the electricians' school while Patterson will enter the radio school. These men will be given a chance to enter these schools while undergoing their training period.

The U. S. S. Lexington, the largest ship the Navy has will be open for re-enlistment of men after Sept. 15. This ship is 888 feet long and electric driven by oil burning turbines which generate 180,000 horse power, driving her through the water at 34 knots per hour. This is enough electric power to supply the city of Boston.

EXPLOSION VICTIM

Guy Hord Burned in Oil Blast at Home Near Kirkpatrick

Kirkpatrick, Sept. 12.—Preparations for a wiener roast came to an unpleasant conclusion for Guy Hord, near here, Friday night, when he was seriously burned while attempting to start a fire for the event, which had been planned for entertainment of the Hord family and neighbors.

When Hord emptied a can of crude oil on the fire, an explosion occurred, throwing flaming oil on his hands and one of his legs.

The injured man was rushed to the office of a physician in Marion, where his burns were dressed. Although his injuries are extremely painful, Mr. Hord's condition is not serious.

Konjola Brought Amazing Relief To Her After Years' Suffering

In Marion and all nearby towns a multitude of people have found surprising relief from their rheumatism after giving Konjola a trial This medicine is not a chemical, tablet or capsule, but a remarkable new liquid compound,

THE KONJOLA MAN

which contains juices extracted from 22 of Nature's finest medicinal roots and herbs These cleanse away the impurities through the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus ending the aches and pains and benefiting the stomach and inner organs at the same time, which is the safest, surest and best way to conquer the ailments known as rheumatism or neuritis

The Konjola Man at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 S Main St., Marion, is meeting large crowds daily and explaining this new compound Hundreds of testimonials are on file from people of Marion and vicinity who have already benefited by giving Konjola a trial

One of the latest residents of this section to indorse Konjola is Mrs Sarah Baum 371 Clinton St., Marion.

"I suffered for years with rheumatism said Mrs Baum, and never could get any permanent relief until I found Konjola This medicine certainly reached my case in a wonderful way in very quick time

"My legs and back hurt me all the time The joints of my knees were stiff and swollen, and besides, I was nervous all the time, and also having trouble with my stomach Sharp pains would strike me across the region of my kidneys and, I tell you it was about all I could stand Sometimes I could hardly walk In this condition I began taking Konjola and in less than a week I was feeling better in every way than I have in years The rheumatic pains and aches disappeared more and more every day, and now I am entirely free of my troubles I have taken four bottles of Konjola and I don't know what it is like to have backaches any more, or stomach trouble I feel better in general and yesterday I took my first long walk which is something I couldn't do in three years, and my friends can verify this

"After the wonderful work of Konjola in my case I am glad to indorse such a medicine to others, because I know what it can do

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section.—Adv.

Marriage and Divorce in Russia.

It is manifest that the bolshevik minority which is misgoverning Russia is worried over the tidal wave of divorce which is sweeping over that unfortunate and unhappy land It is surprising that the bolsheviki would be disturbed by anything which breaks down the established order of things but a growing wave of discontent among the peasant women of the land seems to have cast fear into the soviet regime

Official statistics published in the Krasnaya Gazeta show that during the first five months of the present year there were recorded in Leningrad 9,8 1 marriages and 7 265 divorces whereas the same five months of the year before the records of the same city showed but 2 176 divorces to 8 472 marriages the proportion for the entire year of 1926 being about twenty divorces for every 100 marriages The outlook as seen by Russian officials is that next year there will be a divorce for every marriage

Speaking of the situation a cable spirited out of Moscow says

This fever for divorces is scarcely to be wondered at however in view of the legislation and practice of the soviet government and its experiments in the simplification of marriage and the facilitation if not encouragement of divorce As early as December 1917 all wedding ceremonies were abolished by law save only the simplest civil contract Church weddings or religious rites of any kind were prohibited But even the civil compact was presently deemed superfluous and in 1926 it was decreed that for two persons of different sexes to begin living together constituted a complete and legal marriage

At this there was a great protest especially on the [illegible] peasant women who [illegible] that it was too [illegible] such a system to keep [illegible] The result was that [illegible] on January 1 [illegible] It was [illegible] effect with the exception that it is not to apply to the peasantry among whom it is declared "desirable—though not compulsory for those contracting marriage to [illegible] a public office

Such registry is of [illegible] in the country district but is almost unknown in the cities where the most informal condition is deemed to constitute legal marriage

This is Russia whose anarchistic government—if such a term is possible—Senator Borah and other similar [illegible] would have us recognize

We can never be sufficiently thankful that the chairman of the senate foreign relations committee has been unable to accomplish American recognition of soviet Russia [illegible] live in the hope that American good sense and her scorn of the murderous oafs which have made chaos of Russia will continue to prove a bar to such recognition.

He Might Have Gone Further

[illegible]

Looking back over the proceedings of the last session of the general assembly [illegible] has been much [illegible] charge [illegible] the Anti Saloon League and the [illegible] almost played the game as the general assembly [illegible] Each helped the other to get what the other wanted or to defeat that to which the other was opposed So strong was their combined influence that in one case the general assembly practically disregarded a recent decision of the United States supreme court in order to do their bidding

But the attorney general might have gone still further and pointed out how the two rule departments and boards and commissions for the creation of which they were responsible It is in this fact that municipalities are almost helpless in the face of the demands of public utilities for higher rates We do not mean that there is attempt by public utilities at corruption That is not necessary They have two great advantages over municipalities which place the latter under a heavy handicap The members of the state public utilities commission by way of illustration naturally lean to the idea which made their jobs possible and keeps them in power and again they are influenced in favor of the utilities as a result of the superior legal talent which represents the utilities before them—talent which has specialized in the line in which it is engaged

We here in Marion have reason to know what specialized talent will do Take the matter of our water rates upon which we could have saved hundreds of thousands of dollars had the city and the Water company gotten together over a conference table and arrived at a rate by appealing to reason and fairness rather than to the law One of the attorneys of the Water company suggested a minimum rate of $12 a year whereas the old minimum was $10 a year The city refused to take it and the result is that water users are paying a minimum rate of $14 04 a year And this was the result of a compromise after antagonisms had been aroused This shows an apparent increase of $4 04 a year but it holds only when the water patron doesn't use over 700 cubic feet in two months Under the old rate the consumer could use 3 337 cubic feet of water in a quarter for $2 50 Under the new rate this would cost him $4 65 The fact is that the cost of water to the consumer who owns a home and uses water for lawn purposes has been almost doubled As an illustration we have at hand a concrete case where the cost to the consumer for the first twelve months under the new rate was $19 97 whereas for the twelve months preceding the cost was $10 17

Put this down as a fact which the officials of the local Water company will not deny as a result of the local water controversy and the developments which came from it the company was put in the way of making almost if not fully a million dollars which would hardly have been possible had it not been for the influence public utility corporations have been able to exert upon the laws of our state in the past of which they are able today to take the greatest advantage by reason of the specialist legal talent they employ

Yes Mr Turner might have gone further and still have kept within the bounds of truth

No Cause for Worry.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

[illegible] teeth are [illegible] from the cradle to the grave There is much truth in this statement To it may be added the comment that neglect of the teeth has carried many a man to his grave far ahead of his time

Sometimes we speak of the first teeth as the milk teeth There are twenty of them and ordinarily they are cut in pretty regular fashion

When first the baby has from sore the gums they are a delicate pink in color The edges of the gums are hard and somewhat sharp

As the child grows the gums grow [illegible] They become [illegible] and more [illegible] At the age of six or seven months the first teeth appear

We speak of the sharp edged front teeth as the incisors They are made [illegible] to the food and not to grind it as the back teeth are intended to do

There are four incisors on each jaw eight in all The lower central ones are the first ones to appear that is it is ordinarily true that these come first The mother need not be alarmed however if the teeth appear in some other order Similarly she may not be content [illegible] as the [illegible] of children [illegible] In consequence the lower central incisors may not be first They may cut through long after other teeth have arrived

After the two lower teeth have appeared all four of the upper incisors are likely to erupt as the dentist calls the appearance of teeth By the time the child is nine or ten months old there will be six teeth to its credit

At the age of a year or fourteen or fifteen months the lower lateral incisors appear At about the same time the first molars of the back teeth or molars come along This experience completes a set of a dozen teeth

There will be a space between the front teeth and these newly erupted molars until the canine teeth appear These make their arrival at about the age of a year and half to two years At the end of the second year then the youngster has sixteen teeth

It takes some time for the last of the milk teeth to appear This is because they are not needed as yet for such food as is proper to give so young a child But by the time the thirtieth month comes along the back molars are cut and the full set of twenty milk teeth is ready for business

It is not uncommon to hear of a baby being born with teeth or a single tooth Such teeth may fall out very soon and be replaced by the regulation milk teeth Or they may serve their purpose until the permanent teeth appear

On the other hand there may be no sign of a tooth until the baby is nine or ten months old Your really healthy baby may get a tooth at the age of three or four months

The thing I want to make clear to the young mother is that she need not be disturbed and unhappy if her infant is not following the exact [illegible] There is plenty of time to get all the needed teeth Individuality after all is the rule of life

Editorial Comment.

THE QUESTION OF SYMPATHY

Will [illegible] or Dempsey have the bulk of sympathy at Chicago There is likely to be a great deal of sentiment in favor of the underdog but in the coming fight it is hard to figure which of the [illegible] To be sure Tunney is champion but those who remember the terrible maulings administered by Dempsey [illegible] one and [illegible] will hesitate to rank him as a [illegible] has been Tunney has been a popular champion because of his excellent manners and his modest demeanor But perhaps the high brow [illegible] or the high brow portrait of Mr Tunney has just a little harmed his popularity

When all is said and done the preponderance of social approbation at the Chicago prize ring will not be a matter of great moment Young men who advance to the foremost ranks of pugilism are too [illegible] by boots or unduly elated by friendly yelps No prize fighter could ever attain [illegible] rating without having sloughed off his sensitiveness Not even the gentle Mr Tunney could possibly be rattled or offended into losing a fight

The whole business of prize fight partisanship is largely artificial It is very greatly influenced by pocketbook considerations No matter what may be their private personal preferences few followers of [illegible] will wager good money without conviction that they are going to win and once their dollars are [illegible] their sympathies stand with their dollars For the great majority of the people of the United States there is next to nothing to choose between Dempsey and Tunney They are two professionals shoving for large profits and sentiment could scarcely be more wastefully misplaced than in backing either of the ambitious battlers —Cleveland Plain Dealer

GRAFTING OFF THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT

There has been considerable talk of late of plans for the complete reorganization of the French system of railways These had to do mostly with the mechanical equipment but it would seem now that the clerical system needs looking into also Recently the government railroad officials learned that one of their retired employes pensioned thirty three years ago would celebrate his 100th birthday this fall They prepared to arrange a public ceremony in his honor and in the course of that work they discovered that the man who was drawing the pension was the son of the old railroader the latter having passed to richer rewards long ago The son had been collecting his father's pension for so long that a new generation of cashiers took it for granted that the man they were paying was the pensioner himself There will of course be no centenary celebration certainly not by the son of the railroader for he has been railroaded to jail for a year —Philadelphia Record

Now when you are seventy four you can do all these pleasant things and leave the unpleasant things undone The fact that Professor Michelson can follow these rules now is due to the more important fact that he had no such rules when he was young

Views of Those in Public Eye.

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER

Nicholas Murray Butler was born at Elizabeth New Jersey April 2 1862 His connection with Columbia university New York City began in 1885 when he was an assistant in the department of philosophy He has been president of the institution since 1902 Dr Butler has been active in Republican party politics for many years acting as delegate to the national conventions of the party and on two occasions receiving votes for vice presidential and presidential candidacies He has done considerable work in education and political economy

The doctor holds that nationalizing has been responsible for wars He says

Which way lies the path to peace? To answer this question justly one must understand and weigh the great social economic and political forces which are and have been at work in the world

For more than a thousand years indeed since the fall of the Roman empire the western world has been engaged in nation building What we call nations were not known in antiquity Their unit was the city state and the dependencies The Roman empire was the first and most stupendous attempt to bring the whole civilized world under a single rule It failed because the task was beyond the power of human genius and because the end in itself was neither wise nor beneficent Following that failure there began in Europe the process of nationalizing which is still going on Groups of like minded men having a common tradition speaking a common language and feeling a general community of interests sought to find and to make for themselves permanent homes and to build governments Each successful attempt of this kind became a nation

Consciously or unconsciously the process of nation building aimed to achieve three ends first a substantial ethnic unity second to occupy a geographic unity which gave complete or relative security and third to gain economic independence that is to control directly the essentials of economic life and industry

From each of these three endeavors there have resulted wars without number and today the international problem and many national problems may best be stated in terms of one or all these three endeavors

Approaching Season to be One of Simplicity in Dress, Designer Says

FASHION'S realm has taken a new [illegible] turn and the big parade opens this season with cloth, velvet and metal cloth marching in the "transparent" class, according to Walter Brown, Marion's leading designer and maker of women's clothes who has rooms on the second floor of [illegible] what's what and why for fall and winter.

"Fickle fashion is most transparent at present and gives promise of extending this characteristic to the [illegible] mode of the winter evening costume and those for daytime as well," says Mr. Brown. "Even when the materials used are not transparent, they are cleverly used to give the effect, which after all is what we are after.

In the olden days when one spoke of a transparent gown one visualized a [illegible] chiffon, lace and tulle, but [illegible] gone to make time with the [illegible] stays and crinoline, and if [illegible] the transparent [illegible] velvet and metal cloth, Mr. Brown [illegible].

Transparent Velvets

The [illegible] arrivals in the fashion parade are transparent velvet also [illegible] transparent broadcloth. [illegible] these [illegible] luxurious and have long appealed to the heart of woman. There is a certain "[illegible]" to the fashions which are being worn now and is [illegible] in the gowns designed for a busy season. This is often achieved by the sudden introduction of a flare or the placing of a dashing bow on the otherwise severely simple costume. [illegible] is to be a season of simplicity in dress.

It will be no longer possible to designate the correct skirt length in inches above the ground as has been done heretofore. The proper skirt length now is that which harmonizes with the individual figure wearing the gown, and by that same token [illegible] demands of harmony prevent any [illegible] ment of any certain waist line.

Fall Coats

The first harbingers of fall [illegible] and winter coats to which women [illegible] so kindly at the first chill in the air, are attention arresting this year [illegible] the flared and large sleeved [illegible] will be most popular and have the additional virtue of being [illegible] some of the best dressed women are taking kindly to the straight [illegible] with plain sleeves and long [illegible] of handsome fur of [illegible]. These are particularly good as part of an afternoon ensemble and are [illegible] smart.

In short, dress is now adopting [illegible] of the most radical principles of composition evolved by advanced painting and sculpture.

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

MARY GIRDS HERSELF

AT my drawling comment that the viewpoint of the young "modernus" of whom she counted herself one was the droollest thing I knew, Mary Harrison shot a startled look at me, in which, to my secret amusement and gratification, I detected distinct chagrin.

I had learned long since from the girls who had attended my classes, that a girl who will gloat over her own wickedness, imagined or real, can be stung into altered behavior by the belief that her notions are furnishing someone with amusement, tinged with the patronage that experience frequently bestows upon its antithesis. Upon a sudden impulse, I had used the result of that knowledge as a weapon against Mary's flippancy, and the result was distinctly gratifying, not only to my pesty vanity which she had wounded, but to the worthier anxiety I had for the girl's ideas and their translation into her conduct.

She was too shrewd, however, to give any indication of her confusion.

"I suppose I must seem awfully amusing to you," she said, and her tone and the little laugh which accompanied it were perfect things of their kind. No experienced woman of the world could have pointed more subtly her belief that mine was a prejudiced and archaic viewpoint. She was artistic enough moreover, to keep on talking as if her rejoinder had been an unstudied thing.

"Ill bet there's one person who doesn't consider me amusing," she said with a decided bob of her head, and that's Eleanor Lincoln; that lady isn't happy unless she's the bride at the wedding and the corpse at the funeral and it doesn't suit her ladyship at all to see her old sidekicks, Mr. Jackson, getting Klieg eyes when he looks at your little niece. She hasn't made Noel's eyes do much straying either, so far, and so she's ready to scratch my beauteous orbs out, or will be when I get in a little more of my deadly work."

I knew that beneath her extravagance of words there lay a very real animosity toward Eleanor Lincoln because of the very decided penchant for Noel Veritzen which the young mistress of The Larches had betrayed upon her every meeting with him. But my attention did not concern itself with Mary's grievance against our young neighbor. It lighted upon a certain startling phrase in her chatter and fastened itself there.

"Her old side-kick," I repeated, involuntarily, staring at my husband's young niece. "You mean—"

"I mean just what you've been thinking," she retorted, tossing her head, "that Miss Lincoln and Mr. Jackson are old acquaintances. I wouldn't be surprised to find that they're childhood friends—brought up next door to each other and all that stuff.

"That's all foam, of course, about that dog," she went on, while I mentally paid tribute to her perspicacity. "It's just a little bit too thick, the excuses she's handing out about once having a dog named 'Fedor,' and being willing to take care of this pup for Mr. Jackson. Of course it's her own hound that for some unknown reason Jackson's been riding herd on. But why on earth they should want to pretend they don't know each other, sure gets me. It's deep stuff, Auntie Madge, deep stuff. Of course you've known their spiels were phony from the very first, but you didn't think I was wise, too, did you, now?"

Her eyes were full of mischief tinged with delicate malice as she gazed at me, but my mind was too filled with genuine admiration for her youthful astuteness to have room for any other emotion, and I swept her a flamboyant obeisance.

"Consider my best chapeau doffed before you, Mary," I told her smiling.

THIS WOMAN FOUND RELIEF

After Long Suffering by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—MRS. ED. DAUGHERTY, 1305 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

A [illegible] of a house on [illegible] Vee Vee [illegible] Vivian Crandall [illegible] Vivian Lester would [illegible] the six [illegible] a tall gray haired [illegible] a talent [illegible] Soames—Vivian [illegible] that devil too—Are [illegible] flew wide in an ex[illegible] His mouth worked [illegible] moment then he [illegible] Good evening Miss Crandall [illegible] her are all in the library [illegible] had better announce [illegible] I am calling. Vee Vee smiled [illegible] as she [illegible] Vivian would have been under[illegible] closed upon the heels of [illegible] her down the [illegible] she waited outside un[illegible] the closed door had [illegible] breath-taking announcement [illegible] her hands tightly over the [illegible] strengthen her faltering courage [illegible] come into the library, Miss Crandall. Soames raised his face [illegible] again as he [illegible] noiselessly through the door.

I'm glad they did not rush to greet me with welcoming arms extended, Vee Vee reflected as she [illegible] herself to advance toward certain unpleasantness.

Her first glance gave her a fair [illegible] picture of the couple. Vivian's mother was a tall, [illegible] slender woman of [illegible] hair only a [illegible] than her beautiful daughter's. Vivian's father was more formidable—a tall [illegible] old eagle at least 17 years his wife's senior. His hair was a bushy [illegible] of white [illegible] his eyebrows in contrast as black as heavy smudges of ink across his high forehead.

Vee Vee instantly feared Rufus Worrell Crandall and felt drawn toward the woman who had contributed so generously to Vivian's beauty and patrician bearing. But she had little time to analyze her emotions, for they were advancing toward her, Mr. Crandall frowning prodigiously, Mrs. Crandall with extended hands and a bright smile of welcome in her hazel eyes and on her fine mouth.

"Wait!" Vee Vee spoke breathlessly. "I don't want to deceive you for a moment. I am not Vivian!"

Perhaps it would be kinder to Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Worrell Crandall, who are after all such very important people and so uncompromisingly opposed to publicity of any sort, to draw a kindly curtain over the scene which followed Vera Cameron's sensational announcement.

Fifteen minutes later something remotely resembling calm had been restored to the rather overpowering beautiful library which an upstart nobody had the temerity to invade and "disturb." Vee Vee had been permitted to tell her own version of the affair at the Minnetonka, a version which had previously been discreetly edited by Vivian Crandall, who had insisted upon taking the entire blame for Vee Vee's unconscious impersonation. After much deliberation on Vivian's part it had been decided to include the prince and his petty villainy in the story to be told to her parents. As Vivian contended wisely, her father and mother would [illegible] as the true story of [illegible] should [illegible] and publ[illegible].

But [illegible] 15 minutes found them [illegible] and faced a dead lock. [illegible] Mr. Crandall [illegible] judgment to [illegible] Vee Vee [illegible] her a substantial [illegible] information as to [illegible] whereabouts and her reasons [illegible] her apparently insane [illegible] Vee Vee had [illegible] walking toward the [illegible] silence [illegible] expressing her [illegible] with Mr. [illegible] Mrs. Rufus Worrell Crandall. Mr. Crandall had been [illegible] however [illegible] return to the [illegible] as to just what was to be done about Vivian Crandall.

Then Soames, the butler, a servant whom the real Vivian had seen, but [illegible] had no suspicion that anything [illegible] had appeared to take her place [illegible] the [illegible] door with the [illegible] an [illegible] more [illegible] reporters—were clamoring at the [illegible] Crandall steps and that—which was far more important—the police were represented in that clamoring group in [illegible] numbers.

They saw that Miss Crandall was seen to arrive [illegible] cannot disperse them," Soames concluded apologetically but firmly.

"Tell them all that Miss Crandall has not returned," Rufus Crandall said sternly, but Mrs. Crandall laid a hand on his arm and looked at him pleadingly.

"Please, Rufus, don't you think we may as well have them in? Vivian has not been in New York for nearly two years," she added significantly.

"Oh, very well. Soames, show the gentlemen of the press and the police officers into the library."

When Soames had closed the library door gently upon his apologetic presence, the eagle-faced old man spoke to Vee Vee in a clipped, stern voice.

"You know my daughter well, you say. You know her [illegible] how she would conduct herself in such a crisis as confronts you."

"I do," Vee Vee answered simply.

And during the next 10 minutes, which were all that Rufus Worrell Crandall would allow her to give to the reporters, she acquitted herself in the Vivian Crandall manner so expertly that her pseudo parents had occasion to exchange more than a few startled but satisfied glances.

"My daughter," Rufus Crandall explained crisply, "is safely at home again as you can see. She has suffered no serious ill effects from an unpleasant adventure, but she is too tired to give an interview—as I will be [illegible] for many days to come. I have absolutely nothing to say in regard to the nature of that adventure, nor has she. I am entirely satisfied with the manner in which the affair has been concluded. No ransom was paid. I have no intention of prosecuting or of giving out information that might lead to the arrest and conviction of her abductors. I wish the matter to be dropped by the police and by the press."

And it was upon that stone wall that a score of seasoned reporters butted their frantic heads. The police seemed more content to drop the matter as the mighty Mr. Crandall suggested. To one question, however, Vee Vee was allowed to reply.

"Is it true, Miss Crandall, that you are engaged to be married to Mr. Schuyler Smythe, with whom you were on friendly terms at the Minnetonka?"

"It is not true," Vee Vee answered calmly and firmly, her lovely head held high.

"It is not true, then, that you and Mr. Smythe were eloping to be married when you were kidnaped?" another reporter insisted.

"Certainly it is not true," Vee Vee answered just as calmly and proudly.

"Will you and Mrs. Crandall pose for a news photograph?" another reporter had the temerity to suggest.

Rufus Crandall was about to refuse explosively when Mrs. Crandall stepped forward, placing her arm affectionately about her daughter's shoulders.

"Just one pose, gentlemen," she said with a charming, gracious smile. "My daughter is really very tired and does not look herself at all."

Cameras were brought hastily forward and leveled on the touching family group. Rufus Crandall unbent to the point of standing beside Vee Vee, while Mrs. Crandall, her arm still affectionately about her shoulders, smiled into the cameras on Vee Vee's right.

Vee Vee could not help admiring the gallantry with which they bowed to a will stronger than their own. And she registered a vow, as the cameras clicked to record her proud but gracious smile, to protect the Crandall name, which she had so strangely fallen heir to, with every ounce of wit and courage that she possessed. If the whole incredible plot was exposed it would not be her fault. There was a very real thrill at the thought that she would for two whole months fill the shoes of America's most beautiful dollar princess.

Vee Vee continues to play the game but she begins to worry about Jerry. Read the next chapter.

IRIS PLAYS A JOKE

THERE was nothing else for it—if Peter wanted to hear the long delayed tale of the three cousins he must stay around until Tortoise had satisfied his hunger and was ready to talk. So he decided to make the best of it. Glancing about he spied a cluster of purple Iris not far away.

"I may as well make myself comfortable," thought the boy. "Guess I'll go over and sit in the shade of the blossoms."

With Peter, making up his mind to and doing were almost the same things—so it wasn't long before he had settled himself comfortably against a green stalk. Suddenly he noticed a peculiar smell that seemed familiar. He sniffed once or twice.

"Umm! Grapes! Now, if only I can find them, I, too, shall have a feast," declared the boy. At his words the blossoms swayed toward each other and seemed to be whispering together. Suddenly something seemed to be wrong with the stalk against which he leaned. He could feel it quivering. Then he heard a faint voice speaking. He had to strain his ears to listen, and it seemed to him the voice was much [illegible] about something.

"Oh, dear me! How [illegible]

"Well, what is it?" demanded Peter upon hearing this. And he spoke so loudly that again the stalk quivered, but this time with fright. At Peter's feet fell a petal.

"Now see the harm you've done," [illegible] "You have frightened sister into [illegible] ing one of her pretty petals. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

"Don't scold him," [illegible] "I am sure he didn't mean it," said a second voice. "It wasn't fastened on tightly anyhow, you know. The least breath of wind might have sent it falling."

"I certainly didn't mean to do anything to harm you, dear Blossoms. I am so sorry I spoke so loudly. Please forgive me." Peter was penitent.

The Iris swayed gently [illegible].

"Spoken like a true friend," declared the slower voice. "We will forgive you, but, and to prove it, will tell you the joke. That odor you smell is not grapes at all, but just the sweet perfume that we scatter upon the air. I hope you like it? We do. In fact we are proud of our scent and our color."

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

The man never did come around with his star on Saturday or Sunday like he said he was going to find out if we went home from G[illegible] when he sent us home.

Me and Jubilee made up our minds this morning when we woke up that grandfathers are not the only liars and a man that is a detective oughtn't to lie to anybody. Then I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and we went and done our work and then I fixed my face and swiped something for him to feed his face on and we took the cows out to the pasture and we went over to Mud Turtle pond and cut some willows and were throwing mud balls from switches and the girls didn't want to get their hands dirty so we went over to an orchard and got some green apples and tried them.

Green apples are better than mud and Tounies was so pleased with them that I went back to the orchard and got my shirt so full of apples for her that not much of it was left in my pants and when heard a holler and looked around and saw the man coming after me I could hardly run but Jubilee didn't run away and leave me and the man kept getting closter and closter.

I ran down where the bunch was playing by the pond and when I was going past them I pulled my shirt out and dropped about a bushel of apples, and if the man thought I was running before that he must of thought that I had started flying when I got rid of the apples. And when I went past and the man went past the bunch picked up the apples and cracked loose and the next I knowed the man and Jubilee and I were in a shower of apples, and when I sneaked a look over my shoulder I saw a big apple bounce off the man's head so hard it made his eyes wobble, and then he stopped and turned around and went back.

Me and Jubilee kept going and went and hid down under the mink factory and stayed there till it was time to go for the cows, and the bunch was out there, and when the man went back Rusty told him they didn't mean to hit him because they were aiming at the bad boy he was chasing, and he asked them if they knowed my name and where I lived and Tootsie said she didn't know my name but I lived in a two story house about five [illegible] and she would take him and [illegible] to him, and he thanked her [illegible] never mind, and when I told [illegible] shouldn't lie to anyone [illegible] didn't lie because I do live [illegible] away—from the city [illegible] don't know my name [illegible] what she has [illegible] that. Then [illegible] I told her [illegible]
